How to Use This Resource

For a video look inside a timeline binder, go here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PQB8kmDS3R4>

What you will need

- 3 inch 3-ring binder (you can start with a smaller size and graduate to bigger binders as needed if you prefer)
- Page Dividers
- Printer
- Scissors or paper cutter
- Glue or preferred adhesive

(See below for alternative method with different supplies)

How to assemble

1. As-you-go or prep ahead

Decide if you want to prep your entire binder ahead or if you only want to add in a few centuries a time as you come across them in your studies. Either method is fine. Do what works best for you and your family.

2. Print out Century Sheets and Cut to Size

You may need to cut a bit off the borders of the century pages for them to fit onto your divider pages. Glue one century page per divider page. These will be for keeping track of larger events, particularly important people, and other things you want to see at a glance.

3. Add your tabs

I have included printable tab labels. You can cut these out on the bold lines and fold on the light lines and slide them right into the tabs on your dividers.

4. Add Content

As you read books, write responses, or study new things, add them in order behind the appropriate tab. If needed you can use the templates found here

<https://tickettolearning.com/2021/05/24/tying-history-together-our-approach-to-a-homeschool-timeline-book-of-centuries/> for places, things, people, and events.

How to create a timeline binder without purchased dividers.

Print the century divider pages on cardstock and hole punch each page. Glue the divider tab labels along the right side of the corresponding century divider page by cutting along the bold lines and folding on the light lines. Make sure the tabs stick out enough to read when your binder is closed.
